The Atlantic City Sensation Ventilated in Court.

Ray Hamilton, You Will Have Me Sent to the Gallows Yet."

Disagreeable View of the Inner Do-mestic Circle of One of New York's Celebrated "Four Hundred," Etc.

By Telegraph to The Times.

MAY's LANDING (N. J.), Sept. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The courtroom was crowded this morning with people anxious to hear the proceedings in the case of Mrs. Robert Ray Hamilton, indicted for the stroclons assault upon her child's nurse, Mary Donneily. Mrs. Hamilton sat beside her counsel, and looked pale and wan. Her counsely disposed of. Mrs. Hamilton fregently sobbed aloued during the selection of the jury, and gave every evidence of hopeless despendency.

Dr. Groeby, the first witness, described the nature of the wound, and added that Mrs. Donnelly was entirely out of dancer.

Mrs. Donnelly then testified as to the facts of the assault, andsocurt took a recess.

In the afternoon Nurse Donnelly said that Mrs. Hamilton took out of her trunk the knife with which the cutting was done. Mrs. Hamilton called her a vile name, and she demanded its being taken back, which she refused to do. She then left the house, and on her return found that Hamilton's trousers had been cut in the right knee, and his cost spill down the back. The knife and garments were both offered in evidence.

Mr. Hamilton's tastimeny went to show.

OMAHA (Neb.), Sept. 18.—The District Attorney this morning filed a petition, signed by Atty.-Gen. Miller, asking that signed by Atty-Gen. Miller, asking that the alleged sale by the Union Pacific Railway of its telegraph system between Omaha' and Ogden to the Western Union Company be set aside as a fraud against the Government. The suit grows out of the injunction proceedings instituted by the Western Union against the Union Pacific on February 14th last, to restrain the road from vielating a pretended contract of sale, to the United States coming in as intervener.

UNION PACIFIC.

Some of Its Alleged Schemes Positively Denied.

Bostox, Sept. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] President Adams of the Union Pacific Railway says he never heard outside of the newspapers of the Union Pacific scheme for building to Southern California. As to the story that the Union Pacific wishes to secure an outlet to the Guif via the Denver and Fort Worth road, Adams said: "I went there to look around, and the people thought I wanted to build a road there, but I have nothing to say about it."

Inquiry at the Union Pacific office developed the fact that the published story of a traffic agreement with the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway, by way of Duluth, has no basis in fact. President Adams, while in Chicago, did have a conference with Bill of the Manitoba, but it was on another matter, and nothing whatever was talked about in relation to traffic arrangements. Adams's visit to Texas was with a view to the consideration of the of union of a "Sunset Koute," a water and land route which has been under consideration since the provisions of the Interstate Commerce law went into effect. No project or scheme of any kind with a view to changing the Union of San Diego of an eastern terminatic company is also without basis in fact.

It says that the lawyers for the defense claim to be in possession of evidence showing that the murderers of Dr. Cronin were paid representatives of the English Government, which had been duped by Cronin, who was supposed by the British authorities to be one of their American spice. The form this evidence has taken and in which it will be presented at the trial on behalf of the defense are a number of letters written by Miss Le Caron, daughter of the notorious witness in the Parsell case, to her affianced husband in Chicago. These letters have been written from London at brief intervals ever since Miss Le Caron joined her father in that city has winter.

Mr. Mains said that he became actel and told him he wanted to be identified and draw a draft for $500. He told the witness that his true name was Arthur Gorham, and he had given the name of Williams, his mother's maiden name, because he had had trouble about a girl and was afraid her relatives would find him. The witness believed the representations of the defendant, and introduced him to the clerk of the Occidental Hotel as Gorham. He did not know whether they got the money or not. The witness went first with the defendant to the Nevada Bank to identify him, but not being known there, took him to the clerk of the Occidental. He afterward introduced the defendant to his wife as Gorham, and they all took a ride that same afternoon.

The strike on the Atlantic and Pacific is off. The two freight conductors who caused the trouble were allowed to go back to work yesterday, and all of the striking brakemen who took up the fight for their brothers went back to work, and freight trains were moving last night.

The Conductors' Convention which had been reinstated and everything was running smoothly. In the future if any of the men are discharged it will have to be done through General Manager D. V. Robinson.

The Santa Fé people are making great preparations for the San Diego fair. Special trains will be run down and round-trip rates will be reduced. It looks as if there is going to be a It looks as if there is going to be a little more trouble about the Los Anlittle more trouble about the Los Angeles and Pacific road, for it is said that a petition is being circulated by some of the removed officials, asking for the appointment of a new receiver in place of W. days the goad has been run with a staff that would be ample for an overland line, there being a president, vice-president, general manager, general superintendent, treasurer and auditor. Mr. Spilman has, however, abolished all of these unnecessary offices, leaving the entire management of the line in the hands of himself as receiver, J. J. Evans in charge of the clerical work, and W. G. Pruihomme in command of the operating department.

The train service has also been completely reorganized, and as a result of these reforms the records show that the road will, under the new management, effect the following savings per month over the old style: On fuel, $101.25; on labor, $1167.50; total, $1868.75.

Speaking of the reforms last night, Auditor Evans said: "Judging by the policy inaugurated by Mr. Spilman, I see the first gleam of light for the Los Angeles and Pacific. I have been with the road from its inception and knew, of course, that a crash was sure to come, owing to the expensive manner in which it was operated. Under the present system, however, I think that the road will be able to pay."

The discharge of the superfluons of declas, who by the purchase of a little stock in the road, made a double investment (for they also obtained positions for themselves), has, of course, led to a little dissatisfaction in their ranks, and they are loudly lamenting the new policy. The Brotherhood came together at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The convention was opened with prayer by the Graud Chaplain, but before the convention went into executive session it was announced that a committee from the City Council, consisting of Councilmen Van Dusen, Hamilton and McLain, wished to wait on the convention.

Lain, wished to wait on the convention.

The committee was invited into the hall, and Mr. Van Dusen stated that he and his fellow-state-men wished to extend the hospitalities of the city to the Brotherhood. Several speeches were made, and the delegates agreed to meet the city lawmakers and the Mayor at the new City Hall at 7:30 o'clock last evening. The committee-men then bowed themselves out of the room and the convention went into executive session. It was stated by mistake yesterday that the Council intended to escort the delegates over the city in yesterday that the Council intended to escort the delegates over the city in carriages. The Councilmen do not feel wealthy enough just now to go down in their pockets for a little picnic of that kind, however much they would enjoy it.

Grand Secretary and Treasurer D. J. Grand Secretary and Treasurer D. J. Carr read several letters of invitation to the delegates to see the country. One was a letter from Manager Spilman of the Los Angeles and Pacific, in which he asks the convention to name the hour and day, and he will have a special train to take the delegates and their wives and families to Santa Monica.

Monica.

An invitation from Joseph Bachman of San Diego stated that he had chartered a steamer, and would be glad to take the entire delegation and their friends for a trip to Coronado. Mr. Bachman also extended the hospitality of the city to the ticket-punchers. This invitation was followed by one from the Santa Fé peopla, offering to furnish a special when ever the boys find time to take a free ride to the city of baynolimate. The Southern Pacific sent in an invitation offering a free special to Santa Barbara and return. The invitations were received with a unanimous vote of thanks.

The committees that are at work on

The committees that are at work on The committees that are at work on the constitution and bylaws made several reports yesterday, and many things that they could not decide were discussed. It is believed that the various committees will be ready to make their final reports today, and if they do, the convention will be able to draw its labors to a close tomorrow evening. In speaking of this new order, the Railway Age of the 6th inst. says:

"A meeting of the Order of Railway Constitution of the Order of Railway Constitution."

"A meeting of the Order of Railway Conductors, attended by about 300 delegates was held at Kanasa City, Mr., September 2d. A dispatch says that the object of the dispatch says that the Haack-Osthoff case yesterday morning caused considerable talk among law-yers and others, and the action of the yers and others, and the action of the attorney, Williams, was very generally condemned. Haack himself called at the police station to say that he was put up to the action he had taken by Williams, and during the afternoon Williams himself called at the station to try and straighten out matters. He attempted to justify himself by saying that he had been told that if Haack was brought before Judge Stanton he would be fined $100, but was promptly informed that that was not the way business was done in the police court; that it was the custom to first hear the evidence and try the case before any punishment was inflicted. He said, however, that he would have his client on hand today to answer to the charges against him before Judge Stanton.

It is more than probable that the whole matter will be gone into thoroughly, and the complaint as sworn to will be introduced in avidence. If it oughly, and the complaint as sworn to will be introduced in evidence. If it is sworn to by Williams "on information and belief," the action of Justice Lockwood in taking any cognizance of it will be inquired into, in the face of the ort-repeated declaration of the Supreme Court, that such complaints are invalid, and His Honor will be asked to explain.

Invalid, and His Honor will be asked to explain.

The District Attorney's office has also been interested in the case, and yesterday Williams and Deputy Phibbs had a consultation on the matter. It was formerly a common practice for these sort of tricks to be played, as, until the Supreme Court decision to the contrary, complaints could be sworn to on "information of belief," and Justice Austin was frequently annoyed by having cases taken out of the police court in this manner, but now that they have the law on their side, Judges Stanton and Owens intend to see that they are treated with courtesy, see that they are treated with courtesy, and the jurisdiction of their courts respected.

Mr. Mains said that he became acquainted with Williams in February or March last, at the time the defendant came to the Nadeau for the first time. At that time the defendant registered as A. C. Williams, and was there three or four days. He next met him in May at San Francisco. There Williams met him at the Baldwin Hotel and told him he wanted to be identified and draw a draft for $500. He told the witness that his true name the witness identified him at the bank; saw him sign the name of Arthur C. Gorham to the draft and get the money. The witness wrote his own name on the back and the word "Identified." The draft was afterward sent back from the Comanche-county Bank of Coldwater, Kan., and witness had to pay the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank $510.

Upon cross-examination an attempt was made to confuse Mr. Mains, but it was unsuccessful. He stuck to the material points in his testimony without any change, and Mr. Brooks's sideswipes on some of the lurid escapades of the defendant served only to bring them into bolder relief.

"I introduced the defendant to Mrs. Padelford as Williams," he testified. "When he came back he registered as Williams, and I asked him why he did so if his name was Gorham. He said the clerk spoke to him when he came in, and said, 'How do you do, Mr. Williams' and he just let it go that way. I heard the clerk introduce Sig Morris, a reporter of the Express, to the defendant. I don't remember whether I said 'This is A. C. Williams, the millionaire,' or not. There is a possibility that I did."

The defense admitted that the draft was sent and returned without payment, and that Mr. Mains had to pay it, but Mr. Hardesty put in the documents as evidence, and examined Mr. Fleischman of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, who testified to the facts already stated by Mr. Mains.

ANNUAL CONPERENCE SESSION

Large Gathering of Delegat Opening-Bishop Foster Presiding-Spirit of the Conference-

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 17 .-[Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The fourteenth session of the Con-ference of the M.E. Church convened in this city today. From the San Joaquin Valley in the north and Lower California south, from near and far, the delegates arrived. The first day was spent in the examination of classes. In the evening a reception was given the conference in the church. Bishop of the conference, did not arrive in of the conference, did not arrive in time to take part. After singing "Come ye that love the Lord." Rev. W. S. Mathews, D. D., led in prayer. Rev. Mr. Hough presided and first addressed the meeting. He told of the great change which has come over the conference since he first was connected with it. This is the first conference held here, and he thought we should have a warm reception. Mr. Porter, on behalf of the church, gave the address of welcome to the delegates assembled. He spoke of the great natural productions of the valley surrounding the city. Prosperity to the valley means prosperity in the churches. The growth of Methodism in this city has been phenomenal. We expect this gathering among us to be a great benediction. Rev. Dr. Bresee of Pasadena made part in the service.

The Bishop made a brief address. He said: "It is very important that this should be an occasion of great spiritual profit to us all. We can make it so. We have come here full of brotherly sympathy, and are delighted to meet each other. I have attended annual conferences for more than fifty years.

Anxiety concerning our appointments. This often leads us to adopt measures which are hurful to us, and cripple us during the whole of the coming year. We need the self-sacrificing devotional spirit of the early fathers. We should leave here better prepared for the work after spending a week in looking after God's work. This session should be one of the spiritual as well as mental inspiration."

Rev. John B. Green, presiding elder of Fresno District, made a report of the work of his district. After speaking of the great financial strain felt everywhere through our conference, he said the benevolent collections were larger than they had ever been before in this district. "We want you at the Sheriff's office," said the Deputy, in a coarse and brutal tone of voice. The poor wardstriker looked as if he was about ready to drop, but he was hurried to the office. When he reached that place the other deputies were gracefully standing about the walls.

For almost an hour they devoted themselves to having fun with the striker. Finally they let him go, and from a few remarks that were let drop it is believed that the whole job was put up on the politician by the frisky deputies, but it is safe to say that that ward-striker will not visit the jail again while Morales is there.

Methodism in this city has been phenomenal. We expect this gathering among us to be a great benediction. Rev. Dr. Bresee of Pasadena made the response on behalf of the conference. He spoke of the hearty reception which had been tendered to the delegates, both from the church and in the homes, and made a very pleasing and humorous address, emphasizing the social as well as the religious privileges of such a gathering as this. After singing "While the Days Are Going By," Rev. A. Bland told of his experience in the early days of Methodism in this city.

[Ventura Vidette—editorial.]

The Los Angeles Tribune devoted ten columns Friday to an exposition of the irregularities of the Soldiers' Home near Santa Monica. The TIMES and Herald each sent reporters to the home to thoroughly investigate the matter, and both reported it largely a canard. Both papers said the Tribune had grossly exaggerated the affair, and that the more important of the Tribune's charges were utterly false. The various Grand Army posts of Los Angeles appointed a committee to investigate the matter, and this report seems not to sustain the major charges of the Tribune. The only charge of "cruelty" sustained against the Governor of the institution was that when one of the inmates returned from Santa Monica intoxicated and offered him a drink, the Governor took the bottle and poured the contents on the ground. That was a horrible outrage!

her patient, Mrs. Hester. She came here morning after morning and talked in such a way to her patient as to very much excite her. Then she was left to us to quiet down and care for. Her language to her patient was very abusive, and not only did it injure Mrs. Hester, but also other patients in the house, to such an extent that I felt obliged to tell her that unless she came and conducted herself as a physician and medicar adviser should I would be forced to deny her admittance. This she refused to do, claiming that she would come in the house and see her patient, and said I could not stop her. I told her that if she would come in and prescribe for her patient and go out again without any disturbance, she could do so; so she came in, but no sconer had she come in than she began to abuse both the patient and myself. I was advised by other physicians to tell Mrs. Hester that she must find another home, or secure another doctor. Mrs. Hester decided of her own option to get another physician. She informed Mrs. Wilcox of her determination, and I informed the Doctor I did net want her to come to my house any more.

The following morning she came to my house with a policeman. The officer came in, and Mrs. Hester told him that she had dismissed Dr. Wilcox. The officer informed Mrs. Wilcox that Mrs. Hester did not want to see her, and she went away.

As regards the money sent by Mr. Hester, he only sent enough for incidental expenses, until he could send more, out of which Mrs. Hester gave Dr. Wilcox $5. LOS ANGELES, AND A LOS AN-GELES GARDEN.

How many of our people have built elegant homes within the past few years. Ten years ago there was not a single residence in Los Angeles built in the most approved style of modern architecture. There were numerous comfortable and handsome homes to be sure, but they were largely oldashioned houses suggestive of solid comfort rather than modern luxury.

But times have changed. Los An-reles is now a city of today, and could he set down in New York or Phila-phia and be readily taken for a part of hem. Architectural excellence is prominent among the new homes, and odern thought has everywhere left the impress of its progress.

Then there are charms about the comelife here that you may go the country over and not meet outside of California. A great deal of the beauty of the jewel depends upon its setting.

Take some of the fine homes here and look at their surroundings. The writer of this visited one this morning -a lovely cottage, fronted with a green lawn, and surrounded by innumerable blossoming plants and growing trees. There was the palm, voiceful of tropical sunshine, swaying lightly in the soft breeze, and drop-ping the broadest of cool shadows. Beside it grew the banana, with long pendant bunches of ripening fruit, its broad leaves leaning slightly outward with a graceful curve. Growing in the same green aisle was a Smyrna fig tree, with its luscious fruit ripening in the clear September sunshine. It was as sweet and juicy as if ripened in the early summer suns.

A little farther adown the path were the orange trees hanging full of round globes, now of a deep, rich green. In a few weeks a tinge of gold will creep into their sides, and as the autumn suns decline they will become more golden until December, when, in the midwinter air, they will grow, sweet, juicy and tempting.

In this September morning hundreds of roses were blooming in this garden. Crimson fuchias were hanging out their perfect bells; the heliotrope fragrant with its multitudinous blossoms; the spicy breath of the lemon verbena filled the garden spaces, and thousands of flowers made the garden gay with their beauty. Up to the roof climbed the graceful smilax, and all over the veranda's front were trailing ines and roses.

Ge into any portion of Los Angeles, and you will find homes like this. Nowhere in the world are prettier cottage homes than here, and sometimes they look more truly homelike than the more pretentious ones. The dream of love in a cottage could be realized here, if anywhere, for Nature here is The plan is very popular in San "Berso truly in harmony, with all that is doon" and will doubtless be pushed to true and lovely.

During the recent sewer-bond campaign, the Los Angeles Express, in its eagerness to make capital for the sewer bonds, published the following highly exaggerated and misleading statement.

Other articles of similar tenor were the patronage of the theater-goers of Los Angeles. Other articles of similar tenor were published both in the Express and Tribune. At the time we not only refuted these false charges, but called attention to the injury which would inevitably accrue to this section from the publication of such statements. This injury has already begun. This article was republished in the Indianapolis News of the 7th inst. It will thus reach at least 100,000 readers. That, however, is but the beginning It is safe to say that within six months a large proportion of the population of the United States will have acquired the belief that Los Angeles is a "city without sewers": without sewers":

Los Angeles is a city of from 70,000 to 80,000 people. It is almost without sewers.
More than three-fourths of it has no sewersage at all. The small sewers we have are chocked and overflowing and foul matter chocked and overflowing and foul matter is often forced out of them. Sewer gas from leaks and overflowing sewers floats in the business centers at night, and in the residence portions the air is heavy with foul odors and gases from neighboring cesspools. The soil of the city is in general such that it does not absorb the foul matter, and that renders the situation worse. In many parts of the city the odor at night from cesspools is so strong that residents are obliged to close their windows at night. Children are dying with diphtheria as a result of these cesspools.

Journals of the East, and of all quarers of the Union who are willing to publish the truth and do Los Angeles ustice, are requested to bear in mind the fact that the above grave charges were published "in the height of the campaign," and known to be untrue at the time; in fact, they were simply campaign clap-trap, unworthy of belief. THE TIMES has over and over published the proof of the healthful ness of Los Angeles, and the testimony of our leading physician, Dr. J. P. Widney, that even now the city is one of the best sewered cities in the United States. (Eastern papers please copy.)

Act was passed. Bishop Fowler of San Francisco, who has just returned from a trip around the globe, teld an assembly of Methodist ministers in San Francisco on Monday that the Exclusion Act "was the most dastardly and disgusting thing America ever did," and predicted that American blood would flow in China to pay for it. He further contrasted the exclusion of Chinese from America with the permission accorded to Americans to enter the Celestial

You describe the scene you wish, a marine view, a stretch of landscape or a figure piece, and the artist's dert brush flies over the canvas, and—presto, change—there it is before you, mountains, valler, foliage, river and all, just as you ordered, and all done in less than 20 minutes; not a fine work of art, to be sure, but very creditable, considering the speed with which it was executed.

There is another exhibit that is of great interest to indies, and that is the display of hair goods; but it is not of these I would speak particularly, however, but of a magic compound known as "Electring," which is a boon to the girls with bangs as it keeps the hair in curl in spite of damp sea fogs, hot weather or any other known destroyer of crimps.

rived with 453,000 feet of lumber for the Union Supply Company of Los Angeles.

Miss Whitehorn of Los Angeles assisted the choir in the praise service on Sunday evening, rendering a beautiful "Ave Maria" with violin obligato. We have been having a couple of "Santa Ana" days, and if they are a sample of the weather down there, we will take French doses of it, for it has completely neutralized our ocean breezes and upset our elysian content. Having heard the water supply of Redondo so often favorably commented upon, I fully appreciated the information given me by one of the company. I found the reservoir to be of concrete, seven inches in thickness, with a capacity of 3,500,000 gallons. It is inclosed by a close and high board fence, and during the warm weather it is cleaned every other day, the water running into a waste and into the ocean. I confess such a thorough and energetic management of this important matter surprised me, and the best of it is that the same thorough and unwavering methods prevail in all the plans and enterprises of the company, so while we will not build our Rome in a day, we will build with enduring foundations.

son to cooperate with him, he or an advance in spite of the prot his best officers. He had 600 well provided with artillery, promised himself that he won his Christmas dinner in Alba Meanwhile 10,000 Americans eager Stillwater. Gates was cowardly as Schuyfer's friends were indignant at his displacement by Gates, but Mor-gan, Poor, Learned, Fellows, Dear-born, Cilley, Cook, Scammel and others were there and no patriot had any doubt. Burgoyne crossed the Hudson on September 13th and 14th, but being delayed by bad ro ads did not progress in four days as many miles. It was not till the 18th that he reached Wilbur's basin, two miles from Bemis Heights, and proposed to attack the Americans. The American position was fortified by a circular line of entrenchments, with the right resting on the river and the left on a ridge of hills. At 10 o'clock on the 19th the British advanced to the assault in two columns. Burgoyne led the attack on the center, Philips and Reidesel on the right and Fraser on assault in two columns. Burgoyne led the attack on the center, Philips and Reidesel on the right and Fraser on the left. Gates was persuaded to allow Morgan's riflemen and Dearborn's infantry to make an attack. A too vigorous pursuit brought the Americans upon the main body of the enemy, when his men being scattered, Morgan was left almost sione. A shrill whistle, however, collected the sharp-shooters, and ciller and Scammel came up with the New Hampshire regiments and a sharp battle ensued. At length, the conflict luiled, when Philips brought up the British cannon and Cook the Connecticut militia. Gates apparently had no plan. Between the positions occupied by the two armies lay an open field in which the British attacked the Americans and were pushed back. The cannon were taken and retaken several times. Too late to accomplish anything, Learned assailed the British rear, where Riedesel and the Hessians fell upon the American flank. Bemis Heights was a drawn battle, in which the lose of the Americans was 400 and that of the British 500. About 8000 men were engaged on each side.

THE BATTLE OF IUKA.

THE BATTLE OF IUKA After the evacuation of Co at length a battery was placed on a crest. For several hours some western troops held their own against three times their number of Confederates, but when Col. Eddy of an Indiana regiment was killed the battery and position were lost. For the possession of these guns desperate charges were made, until at length the Confederates dragged the battery from the field. All the horses and 72 artillerymen were killed. In other quarters the Confederates were driven into the village, when darkness ended the contest in which the Federals had lost 800 killed, wounded and missing. In the night wounded and missing. In the night Price retreated, leaving the captured guns. His loss was 11,000. BATTLE OF OPEQUAN.

When Sheridan assumed command of the middle division of Grant's army, of the middle division of Grant's army, August 7, 1864, he spent a month in getting his forces well in hand. His headquarters were at Harper's Ferry.
When Grant visited him, on September 5th, Sheridan was anxious to begin operations, and the Lieutenant-General consented, with the laconic order,
"Go in." Early and Sheridan confronted each other on Opequan Creek, a few miles from Winchester. When, on September 18th, Early sent half his army on a reconnoisance to Martinsburg, Sheridan moved on Winchester at 3 o'clock on the morning of the 19th, Wilson's cavalry leading, followed by Wright's and Emory's corps. Wilson crossed the Opequan at dawn, driving ail opposers before him, and reaching a point two miles from Winchester, where be stopped for the deployment of his men. Early had turned back toward Winchester before Sherman was ready for battle and fortified himself on a series of detached hills. A broken wooded country lay between the two armies. The Federals charged Early's left and center, encountering a terrific storm of balls, and took his first line. The columns were then hurled back by two brigades. The last effort was made to seize the gorge by which the Federals might retreat, but it was repelled and the broken Federal line re-formed. The sanguinary struggle continued until 8 o'clock in the evening, when Cook's corps arrived and fell upon Early's left. At the same time there was a general charge on the right, which was driven to the fortified heights. By 5 o'clock these were also carried, and Early's shattered columns were sent flying up the valley toward Strasburg. Early lost 2500 prisoners, 3000 killed and 1000 wounded, who were left in Winchester.
Sheridan's loss was 8000.

In the afternoon they were brought before Judge Stanton, when Knapp paid his fine of $10 and was released. Abbott had his case continued until this afternoon.

In an interview with a reporter of the Express Col. Grierson declares that the talk about trouble with the Huala-pai Indians in Arizona is all bosh. A Skillful Runaway.

A horse attached to a buggy came dashing down New High street yester day afternoon, from Temple, and ran into the sidewalk back of Judge Shaw's into the sidewalk back of Judge Shaw's courtroom in the Jones block. An open cellar-door was in the way, but it made no difference; he rushed against it, closing it down, and then continued on in his dangerous career. Although the narrow street was lined with vehicles, he threaded his way successfully through them all, turned down Franklin to Spring and up Spring to Main, where he was captured; and all this was done without damage to himself, the buggy or any one else.
